Creation is a magical process. From an intangible nothing to tangible something, creation is a journey that Emaar undertakes with relish. Emaar does not build homes. Emaar does not build projects; we build communities. Emaar, the name derived from an Arabic word to mean 'to develop', builds neighborhoods with a passion that comes only from a genuine concern for the ultimate end-user- You. Emaar environments redefine the accepted parameters of comfort and convenience. And the testimony comes from over 14,500 home-owners in Dubai – Emaar primary market. Emaar unveiled the concept of master-planned communities in Dubai. We built lush green living environments in what was earlier a vast expanse of desert. We built lakes and swimming pools; we built parks and gardens; we built homes that overlook the sea; we built Marinas; we built golf courses and polo grounds and we welcomed people to their new homes.
